The music writing and playing guitar help him calm down and focus back on the present rather than remembering the past and he chooses his music instead of covering that pain with his addictions.

Generic companies are not altruistic. Very funny pictures

The more I drive this car, the less it makes sense