Clashes between the two ethnic groups have been abundant in recent years, as many Uighurs complain of restrictions on their cultural and religious expression.

The flow of personnel, material, product, and waste into and out of the facility should be designed to prevent contamination of the product.