The quest for objective economic knowledge is surely a good thing, as is the Booth effort to map where economists agree and where they diverge.

The main problem with the Glycemic Index is that it does not factor in typical portion sizes.

Penney in the second quarter, and dumped Apple.